Faculty Judges Eliminate All But Five Contestants In Co-ed Beauty Contest

Train Tickets for Carnival Are Sold in Union Today

By ART MATTHEWSON

"Tuesday is the last day on which you may obtain your free ticket for Friday's Carnival Train," stated Mr. John Dobson, chairman of the ticket committee of the McGill Winter Carnival in an interview yesterday. This means that all those holding blanket tickets of the four or five dollar variety will have today only to present their ticket plus proof of being a McGill student, if they wish to make the ski excursion to Ste. Marguerite without paying the full railway fare of $1.70. This $1.70 ticket will be on sale for those who wish to make this trip only.

The railway passes will be issued at the ticket booth opposite the Tuck Shop in the McGill Union from 10.00 'til 4.00. This ticket booth is the same one from which tickets for the Red and White Revue were sold recently. The presentation of the Student Athletic Coupon Book will be considered proof of student status. One of the coupons will be detached and the upper left hand corner of the blanket ticket will be removed. In exchange for these two items a C.P.R. round-trip ticket to Ste.

By BARB WATSON
Students in all faculties vote today to choose McGill's first Carnival Queen from among five gorgeous co-eds who have met the approval of several professors - judges as well as the students who nominated them.

CONTESTANTS

The five contestants are: Sue Bishop, Helen Harris, Alice Ross, Rosalie Ann Ballantyne, and Martha McCabe. Voting will take place in all major Campus buildings where polls have been set up. They will be open from nine in the morning till five in the afternoon.

Although the voting will take place today, the identity of the winner will not be revealed until Friday night at Molson's Stadium, where she will be proclaimed Queen of the Winter Carnival. She will be drawn onto the field in a sleigh, be crowned by His Honour, Mayor Camillien Houde, and will be presented with a silver cup.

Three of the prospective queens are Arts Students, the fourth is a Science Student, while the fifth is in Engineering. Only five are Montreals, with the two of the other three coming from Toronto, Quebec City and Sherbrooke.

The three Arts Students are Sue Bishop and Helen Harris who are in second year and Rosalie Ballantyne who is in third year Science while Martha McCabe is out at Dawson in the Faculty of Engineering.

VOTING

The voting procedure will be as follows: Arts and Commerce students vote in the Arts building, Science students vote in the Biology building, Engineers in the Engineering building, with students in Medicine, Law, Physical Education, and Physiotherapy all voting in the Medical building.

A large turnout is expected by the committee in charge and when the ballots are finally counted the result is expected to be a rather close one. It is because of this fact that everyone is urged to vote for their choice as to who should be the Carnival Queen.

Montreal's contribution to Carnival Queen contestants consist of Rosalie Ballantyne and Helen Harris. The out of town girls vying for this exalted position are Sue Bishop from Toronto, Alice Ross from Quebec City, and Martha McCabe from Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Since this is the first time that McGill is choosing a Carnival Queen considerable interest has been aroused in the Carnival Queen in particular and the Carnival in general. Who knows, perhaps our Queen will have her pictures in the newspaper and newsreels throughout the world! Oh, lucky her, whoever she may be! Oh lucky McGill!

MUS To See Films Tonight

The McGill Medical Undergraduate Society is presenting its fourth program of films in the Medical Assembly Hall at 8.15 tonight. There will be four films on the subject of Physical Diagnosis, and another on "Trans thoracic Total Gastrectomy."

The Physical Diagnosis Series, of which the films to be shown are Numbers 1, 2, 3, and 9, has been widely recognized for its value to students in all stages of their medical career. The films, in colour, will feature disorders of gait and coordination, and abnormalities of the cervical region.

The film on Total Gastrectomy is a recent portrayal of a very much discussed operation. The entire program will last two hours.

C. Ballantyne Speaks at 5 On Palestine

Mr. Craig Ballantyne, Executive Editor of the Montreal Standard, will speak today to the International Relations Club on the Problem of Palestine, and lead an analytical discussion on the subject. The meeting, which is open to all students, will be held at 5 o'clock in the New Room of the Union.

Mr. Ballantyne, a journalist of fifteen years' experience, was City Editor of the Montreal Gazette before he assumed his present position. Besides controlling news coverage in the Standard, he writes a weekly column on international affairs.

Mr. Ballantyne has made a particular study of the Palestine situation and considers it of epitomical importance in the present world situation. "Continued Zionist extremist activity," he declared, "and the threat of concerted Arab action, are putting the United Nations to its greatest test. The ability of the U.N.O. to enforce its rulings will be shown in the outcome."

This IRC meeting is planned to allow a maximum interchange of views among those present. Mr. Ballantyne will outline the Palestine problem, answer questions, and then act as Moderator in the general discussion.

Preceding Mr. Ballantyne's address, a few minutes of the meeting will be devoted to the consideration of IRC business.

Slattery Talks About Religion To Newmanites

By C. TANSEY

"I remain a Catholic because reason, my experience and the example of others have confirmed me in the faith to which I was born," said T. P. Slattery last night at an open meeting on Catholicism in the Union Ballroom.

"The Catholic Religion is a religion of faith, love and grace," continued the Montreal lawyer and McGill alumnus, "and it is founded on the four steel girders of a rational belief in the existence of God, the existence of a soul, free will, and a life after death. All of these are basic to Christianity, but Christianity is much more than this and embraces more than the popular notion of it. For the important point is not that Christ was a great moral teacher but that He was the Son of God. And for us the great important principle is that we must be born again as Sons of God."

The meeting, the second of four such Monday evening events, was sponsored by the Education Committee of the Newman Club at McGill headed by Eric Barry. A question period of about three-quarters of an hour completed the program.

Pouliot Wins Fencing Cup; Elwood Second

George Alime Pouliot, Law, won the Interuniversity Fencing Championship, and George Tully Interuniversity Cup, last Saturday afternoon. He scored 14 out of a possible 15 points. Peter Eakins was runner up with 11 points. Mike Elwood, came third, and Jerry McCoughly, fourth. The Intercollegiate Fencing Team will be made up of these four fencers, when it goes to Toronto on Friday for the Intercollegiate Fencing Assault at Arms. McGill has won the Fencing Championship twice in the past two years.

SCM Meeting On Philosophy

The Philosophical Society will present Mr. Bennett of the Graduate School at a meeting at the Student Christian Movement House, 3574 University St., at 8.00 p.m. tonight.

Mr. Bennett will deliver a paper on "The Ontological Problem of Good and Evil." All those interested in Philosophical problems are recommended to attend, as this topic is seen to be wide in its scope for theories and opinions.

Mr. Bennett took his Master's Degree from the University of Michigan, and at present is working for his Ph.D. in Philosophy at the McGill Graduate School.

ISS Campaign Points a Way To Get Peace

Six thousand years ago, the Chinese concocted a word for PEACE. It consisted of two symbols - the symbol for rice and the symbol for mouth.

The symbol is as true today as it was then. If we continue to postpone our contribution to the reconstruction of Europe, if we permit starvation to our own inconvenience, if we continue to drowse in an intolerable state of indifference to the cries of a hungry continent ravished by war, let us understand quite clearly what the consequence will be. History records the story of people whose indifference to injustice has resulted in their own extermination.

ISS has been asked by the United Nations Appeal for Children and, indirectly, by the Canadian Government, to enlarge and intensify this year its drive for relief funds. The UN knows that PEACE is not symbolized by hungry minds and hungry bodies. Next week, the 10-day ISS campaign will begin at McGill. Each student will be asked to give at least one dollar to help reach our $10,000 objective. One dollar is what we are going to be asked to give up so that our fellow students across the ocean may live. Can we afford it? - Or are the Chinese wrong about PEACE?

Discuss Viruses At Meet Tonight

Viruses, the so-called "borderline of life," will be discussed by Stephen Kennedy, member of The McGill Science Fiction Society, at tonight's meeting of the organization.

Thirteenth meeting of the current session, tonight's meeting will be held in The McGill Union's Newroom at 8.30 p.m.

Considered to be the link between inanimate and animate life, viruses have been shown to be inanimate when crystallized, but animate when in solution. Recent work in the application of the electron-microscope have resulted in photographs showing viruses in action.

Meetings of the club, other than business meetings, will be conducted in panel form in the future, it was announced by the club executive.

French Pianist Loyonnet Plays Here Wednesday

At 5 p.m. this Wednesday in the R.V.C. Common Room, the French Society will be host to the well-known pianist Paul Loyonnet.

Mr. Loyonnet will discuss the influence of French music on contemporary European music. In addition he will play a few selections. There is no admission fee to the event, and the meeting will be open to members of the Societe Francaise and their friends, undergraduates, graduates, and faculty members.

Paul Loyonnet's latest performance in Montreal was last January, when he executed Beethoven sonatas at His Majesty's theatre. Readers will remember the violent controversy over the French musical figure, with the pianist basing his interpretations of Beethoven on the writings of Schindler, who questioned Beethoven on the meaning of his works with such insistence that the great Ludwig, so it is said, finally resorted to giving nonsensical answers to the inquisitive Schindler in order to be rid of him.

The topic may be one feature of the talk to be given by the visiting French artist next Wednesday. Regardless of personal views on the validity of his defensive arguments, he is recognized as a very able pianist and the event promises to be an interesting one.

Symposium at 8, On Sex Offenders

Tonight at 8 p.m., in the Union Ball Room, the Sociological Society presents its first public symposium this year. "Modern Society and the Sex Offender" is the topic to be discussed by the four eminent guests who have kindly accepted the McGill club's invitation.

The four speakers - a psychiatrist, a prison chaplain, a police officer and a sociologist - are men who have been brought in close contact with the problem under study by the nature of their specialized work.

Dr. K. Stern, of the Allen Memorial Institute, Rev. Gordon Phillips, Protestant Chaplain at the Montreal City Jail, Sgt. A. O. Pelletier, of the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Bureau, and Prof. F. E. LaViolette of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology will take part in the discussion. The speakers will present their views, each will have in turn the opportunity to question or discuss the assertions of his colleagues, and the guests will also answer questions put from the floor. The meeting will be under the leadership of Prof. Phelps, former Head of the C.B.C. International Service, and now professor in the Department of English.

WHO'S WHO

Born in Bavaria, Dr. Karl Stern was associated with the Research Institute of Psychiatry of Munich, where he received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. He left Germany for London in 1936 and he was engaged in research under the auspices of the British Medical Research Hospital. Dr. Stern was

Dawson Loses Two Debates To Champlain

In a home-and-home debate between Dawson College and Champlain University, the American team turned in two excellent performances to defeat the Dawson representatives on both occasions. The resolution of the heated debates was: "Resolved that World Federal Government Should be Established Now or in the Near Future."

On Friday, February 13, Arthur Leznoff and Hugh Marshall, of Dawson, travelled to Champlain, and were outpointed in a very closely-contested debate. The Champlain members had a concrete plan worked out on the blackboard. They proposed that the Federal Government should have limited power pertaining only to the control and prevention of the war. The Dawson team lacked coherence, and their delivery should have been slightly better.

Dawson failed to take advantage of a return debate last night, and were defeated by a very expressive team from Champlain, consisting of Terry Arnold and Otto Mertz who upheld the negative. Their main arguments were that a world federal government was both impractical and unfeasible now or in the near future, and that the U.N.O. was the only possible world organization that would cope with the present problems. The Dawson team was composed of Reuben Zemel and Tom Asimukopulas, who stressed the necessity of a world federal government to avert inevitable destruction. They brought out the fact, that the U.N.O. was not successful in its purpose.

Scott To Talk In Union at 5

Professor F. R. Scott of the faculty of law will address the CCF Club today at 5 p.m. in the union new room. His topic will be "The Necessity for Penal Reform in Canada."

The speaker, who is vice-president of the Canadian Penal Association will discuss the Archambault Report and other changes which should be implemented in Canadian prisons and penitentiaries.

This event is to be an open meeting of the CCF club, and the talk is to be given by one of Canada's leading authorities. Born in Quebec City, Professor Scott is the son of Canada's "Beloved Padre," Archbishop Scott. He studied at Bishop's University and McGill, and received a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford.

At the present time, he is professor of constitutional law at McGill and National Chairman of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Astronomy To Be Discussed

Henry F. Hall, Dean of Sir George Williams College, will speak on "Fifty Years of Astronomical Science" before the St. James Literary Society, tonight at 8.15, in the Engineering Institute, 2050 Mansfield street.

Dean Hall is past president of the Quebec Branch of the Royal Astronomical Society and has lectured many times in the past to the St. James Literary Society. He is a graduate of McGill and of the Diocesan Theological College, and served with the Royal Highlanders of Canada during the First World War.

His lecture will be illustrated.

Winners of Photo Contest Are Chosen

The winners of the Photographic Model Contest recently held to choose the most photogenic co-ed on the campus have finally been announced by the board of judges. This contest was sponsored by the Rapid Grip and Batten Co. for the Women's Union, and was judged by a committee composed of a fashion editor, a moving picture producer, and three other fashion experts.

These twenty-five girls will be models in the Fashion Show to be held on Feb. 27 at R.V.C. at 4.00 p.m. The show is being run as part of the grand campaign for I.S.S. Relief, and will constitute part of the R.V.C. effort.

As well as three money prizes, the three winning co-eds will be given the opportunity to do part-time modeling in Montreal. Here are the judges' choices for final competition in the Show:

The Winners

UNB Pranksters Carry Off Fish

(By Canadian University Press.)
The department of Biology and Botany at the University of British Columbia has again become the victim of 'campus pranksters.'

"Students," claimed Mr. Pillsbury of the department "are carrying off my laboratory bit by bit."

Latest acquisitions of the pranksters are a pair of rare goldfish and also a pair of indispensable eyeglasses.

Last term culprits subjects the frogs to many indescribable indignities, and now he is worried as to what will be the fate of the goldfish.

Dawson Engineers' Gen. Night Tonight

The first Engineering 'Gen Night' to be held at Dawson this session will take place this evening in Theatre 1 at 7 p.m. As guest speakers there will be representatives of each department giving students information concerning requirements, qualifications, and chances of advancement in each branch. After the talks, the meeting will be held open for questions from the floor, while following the meeting the students will be able to talk to the speakers personally.

U.B.C. Xmas Graduates No Longer in Existence

(By Canadian University Press)

University of British Columbia students will never again face the threat of being "Bounced at Christmas."

The yearly spectre of low Yuletide marks, in the past a reason for automatic expulsion from the university, was lifted recently by an announcement from Dean Daniel Buchanan.

The university will revert to formal Christmas examinations, dropped this year in favour of 'informal' tests, and will no longer ask students to withdraw as a result of midterm exams, the Dean of Arts and Science said. The move is not meant to lower the standards at UBC, but to ease the load on students new to the university system. Dean Buchanan stated, however, that the change in procedure does not alter the fact that Christmas exams will play a large part in marks given in final exams in April.

Business Education

The University of Minnesota has inaugurated a program of business teacher training for the winter quarter on both the undergraduate and graduate levels. The program combines basic courses in the school of business administration and professional courses in education and business education offered by the College of Education. The new program is expected to help reduce the present shortage of business teachers.

THE EDITORS SPEAK

By M. V. JONES, U.N.B.

The motion passed at the NFCUS Conference at Winnipeg in December to the effect that NFCUS should join the I.U.S. for at least two years with the condition that IUS drop its political intent has received considerable attention from student editors across Canada.

The editor of the Xaverian Weekly takes a strong stand against the action of the St. Francis Xavier representatives to the conference who voted against affiliation in any case. The Xaverian wants to know why the motion had to be ratified by the separate student governments. The representatives had the power to express student opinion and their decision should have been final. At any rate, says the Xaverian, communism has to be fought sometime and it might as well be across a conference table before the battlefield becomes a last resort.

The Sheaf takes a somewhat similar view on the last point. It feels that the elected representatives of the student government have the power to make decisions on its own strength. (However, if NFCUS fails to publicize its aims and purposes then the Sheaf feels that students yell for a referendum would be warranted.) The Sheaf also has an answer for critics who believe the U. of Sask. did wrong in voting against the motion. The financial status of NFCUS was the first bottle-neck, and combined with that was the attitude that NFCUS "should clean up its own backyard first." The fact that the IUS is dominated by the vote of the Sask. representatives.

The Daily Ubyesey of U. of B.C. feels that NFCUS is butting its head against an impenetrable barrier by joining IUS. It feels that the communist domination of IUS will be hard to shake—for a long time to come. However, the Ubyesey concedes that NFCUS is better in than out of the "International" organization. The question is: Can the "Canadian delegation successfully bring IUS to the point where it can work effectively as a world student body?" The Ubyesey thinks it can be done.

The Silhouette from McMaster points a warning finger at the IUS affiliation on several grounds. For one thing, the Silhouette points out, the European is political by nature while the North American is not; resulting, perhaps, in our being overwhelmed. Ivory towered idealists cannot cope with practical politicians—possibly one reason why a referendum was held at McMaster, if the Students' Council read the Silhouette. The common objection across Canada is that the majority of students lack the knowledge about NFCUS or IUS, again attesting to the Silhouette's belief that decision should be negative.

The Manitoban favors affiliation, noting that "our only alternative is to concede world student leadership to the Communists by default." But on the other hand, the Manitoban would advocate "democratic leadership" for the countries who are poised half-way between Communism and Democracy.

The Athenaeum from Acadia offers its opinion flatly: stay out. Grounds for this attitude are many: the Communists are more efficient at expounding their system than the Democracies theirs because the Communist delegates are of the elite 3 per cent of the Communist party; if resolutions were railroaded through by the Communists it would reflect on our Universities and Canada as having been supported by Canada—after the Russian propaganda mill had made it appear that way.

McGill C.C.F. Puts Theory Into Practice At University Settlement House

Early this year, the C.C.F. club on this campus formed a Social Service committee. This practical and constructive branch of the club was the idea of Betty Ann Henley, a student in fourth year arts, who is interested in helping to maintain contact between the student body and the social service world. Conscious of the gaps in the ranks of volunteer workers, she organized the committee and is its chairman.

Looking around for a social service centre which needed volunteer aid, the committee discovered the McGill University Settlement House was the logical project on which to work. Founded by a group of McGill students and faculty members in 1891, it has been a McGill venture from its birth, and has maintained contact with the university world ever since. In its early days, students lived within the settlement house itself, and earned their board by supervising various groups. As the need for the work was recognized, salaried workers supplanted the students. Even today, however, students still help with summer camp work, and act as group leaders, while the children's library, begun in 1910 by the McGill Library School, still carries on its work within the settlement.

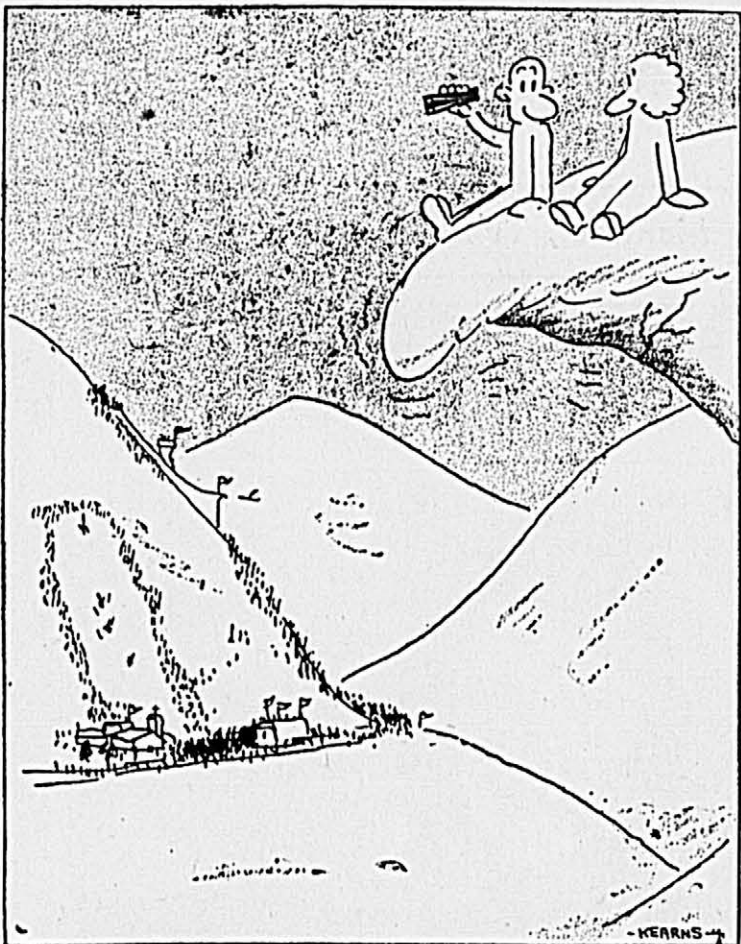

Most of the students who participate in its work at the present time either intend to enter the field of social service after college, or are especially interested, or trained in the work. Betty Ann Henley herself works during the summer in the City Playground Department, and intends to do social service work next year. She spends at least one morning a week at the McGill Settlement House, helping with the children of kindergarten age. However, one of the objects of the McGill Social Service committee was to interest the layman as well. Enthusiasm and good will, not experience, are the most important qualities of the potential group leader.

Five groups were formed last autumn by the committee, which held classes in commercial art, handicrafts, and music and dramatics. Brownie and cub groups which had long waited for leaders to begin, at last commenced activities under student supervision. The settlement workers had been looking for a cub master for over two years, as there had been no disciplined outlet for a small group of junior boys. Sam Freedman, a third year science student, took over the role of cub master, and since its formation the pack has tripled its membership. This was an extremely difficult undertaking, as many of the children do not attend either school or church regularly, and consequently intense interest must be excited in them in order to ensure constant attendance.

A psychology student helping out at the Settlement House was amazed recently to find that the kindergarten group became an interesting and helpful study after only one short morning's work. Another student discovered how easily the different ethnic groups accept one another in the district. Mr. McGartney, head worker at the settlement, claims, "You guide the children; they do the teaching."

The C.C.F. club social service committee would like to see the Settlement House project brought under the sponsorship of the Students' Executive Council. All students interested in working at the Settlement House may contact any member of the C.C.F. Club. Both men and women can be helpful in this work, which is almost an essential part of present day education, and extends student viewpoints over the sometimes confining horizon of campus interests.

We Should Have Bought Our Tickets Sooner

Perfection Review of the Don Cossacks

by Jean Pouliot

It has been said of the Don Cossacks Chorus that they are "one of the few things that have not changed in the world in the last ten years". If this be true, and they continue to maintain the same high standards of performance, leave us be against change in this instance.

Everyone is familiar with the perfect technique with which the 24-man choir uses to interpret the church music traditionally featured at the beginning of their performances. It is still there, it is still perfect singing, where extremely delicate nuances gradually develop through crescendo into a mighty wave of notes overwhelming the audience.

But "something new" has been added. Sympathetic four-foot-ten Serge Jaroff himself is outdone as a semi-comedian by the hilarious giant who steals the show when the Cossacks render their comic songs and their drinking songs. If we were to gauge the musical merit of individual selections on the programme by applause, these light songs were better than the part of it which consisted of the usual Cossack selection of church music. But, using the intensity of applause as a barometer again, we should say that the dancers were the most popular. How they can sit on air and dance at the same time is beyond us, how they can look as though they were deriving great enjoyment out of doing it is inconceivable. We are still trying to decide whether their outstanding quality was their grace or the contagious boisterousness with which they criss-crossed the stage by leaps and bounds with such agility that we strongly suspect the two dancers of having plastic limbs.

For our part we are still humming the haunting tunes which they executed with such a delicately balanced alternation of restraint and force; we are still trying hard to register every fast move of the colorful dancers gayly gambolling about in our memory; and we are still laughing at the comic songs. The intensity of applause definitely should not be used as a gauge for evaluating the individual parts of the programme—it is thoroughly enjoyable from the very sober beginning to the very boisterous end, encores included.

And we would like to express the hope that the two remaining events in the series sponsored by the Societe Classique and the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society are as enjoyable as the superb performance of the Cossacks of the Don.

Time and Tide

A middle aged lady in the street car the other day put her finger on a rare, but valid objection to modern writing. Patting a well known magazine with disapproval which yet had a shade of tolerance in it, she said, "This modern writing! It leaves everything to your imagination!"

She had been reading a story about two young lovers who were parting. The writer had not stated whether they were married or single, rich or poor, or preferred coffee or tea; he had, in fact, ignored all the background material in favor of "the problem," which was concerned with the fact that the girl in love was losing her sense of identity. There are compensations for the bare statement of the problem, but the lady in the streetcar felt that mere statement was "a patch out the whole piece," and in any case, she was familiar with the problem, which she thought as old as the hills.

Te detail and background that would have interested her, were left to the imagination, so that the reader had to do some creative work on his own.

She wanted to know what kind of people were involved, and she wanted the author to demonstrate some ingenuity in describing them, making them real, and in rescuing them from their apparent impossible deadlock. That is, she wanted the problem evaluated, not stated. However, because moral and social values have disintegrated, evaluation within a frame of reference becomes increasingly rare, and modern writers are often content merely with a statement of the problem.

Chester MacNaughten Prizes For Creative Writing

Two prizes, one of $50 and the other of $25, are offered annually in a competition for the best piece of creative writing in English submitted by a student of the University. The work submitted may be in prose or verse and may be fiction, drama, or essay.

Compositions that have appeared in print are not ineligible provided that they have been published since 1st March, 1947. Entries that win prizes or honorable mention will be retained by the University and filed in the Redpath Library.

No candidate may submit more than two entries.

The judges are appointed by the University Scholarship Committee which also decides all questions concerning eligibility.

Compositions must be typed or printed, and must reach the Registrar on or before the 15th March, 1948.

McGill Winter Carnival Features 200 Snow-shoers

Racquet-runners to Participate in Six Races Thursday

Carnival Night, this Thursday, will see over 200 local athletes taking part in some gruelling races quite apart from the thousands who will be around Beaver lake for a little mild though exciting snowshoe. With overgrown tennis racquets lashed to their feet, the snowshoeing enthusiasts of nine Montreal clubs will vie for honours in a total of six races.

The Lafontaine club, long established in snowshoeing circles has let it be known that they expect no opposition in any of the contests. Newer clubs, such as the Nationals and Laurier have been making excellent showings in competition this season, however, and a keen struggle is promised.

Every member of the family gets a crack at one of the trophies being presented to the winners of the snowshoe dashes. In the men's section there will be two races, the 100 yard sprint and the 220 yard contest. For the wives, daughters and best girls there will be 60 yard and 100 yard sprints. Even the little shavers have their chance in the "Mascol" race for children between the ages of 10 and 13, and the tots 60 yard dash. This last race is for 5 to 8 year olds and it is expected that it will turn into more of a crawl than a dash.

The march of the snowshoers will be a spectacle really worth seeing. Starting from the corner of Cote des Neiges Road and Remembrance Road the athletes in their traditional costumes will march behind the massed bands of several of the clubs. Each member of the procession will carry a multicoloured flare as the group tramps its way up to Beaver lake where the races will be run off.

Snowshoeing was, at the turn of the century, an extremely popular sport. With the wider use of skis, however, snowshoes were tucked away in the attic and conveniently forgotten. During the last war, however, skis, though successful in many theatres, were inefficient in the more rocky terrain. So it was that there was a rebirth of interest in snowshoeing and now it is once more gaining the following and interest it deserves.

Ageless Advice

Nearly 500 years ago, Leonardo da Vinci, one of history's "great" gave this prescription for healthful living: "Do not eat when you are not hungry, feed lightly at night, masticate your food well; let it be simple and well done; drink no wine between meals, nor on an empty stomach; have no sleep in day-time, and cover yourself well at night; take no medicine, and never fly into a rage; avoid luxury and keep to a regular diet." Canada's health authorities point out that this advice is substantially as sound today as it was hundreds of years ago.

Rust or dark spots can be removed from scissors by rubbing off roughness with fine sandpaper or steel wool and rubbing on a little oil.

Plans Laid For Moyse Boys Ski Excursion—Stowe, Vermont

For all you McGill skiers who have been awaiting the chance to go to Vermont skiing for the week-end, here is your chance.

There is going to be a special ski trip to Stowe, Vermont, via Waterbury on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27, 28. A C.N.R. train will leave Central Station Thursday, Feb. 26, at 8:40 p.m. and it arrives at Montpelier at 11:59 p.m. (midnight). This train does not stop at Waterbury, which is before Montpelier, and which is the point nearest Stowe. The catch is that on this train you will have to spend the night in the station and return to Waterbury on the train leaving Montpelier at 6:25 Friday morning, arriving at Waterbury at 7:03 a.m.

But a much better and easier way to get to Stowe is to take the C.N.R. train at Central Station on Friday, Feb. 27 at 9:20 a.m. and you will arrive at Waterbury at 12:40 p.m. (around noon). From Waterbury a bus takes you to Stowe, the ski site.

For returning to Montreal, you can take a bus from Stowe to the C.N.R. station at Waterbury, leave Waterbury at 6:13 p.m. Sunday and arrive at C.N.R. Montreal Central Station at 9:30 p.m. that night.

Concerning the financial end of the trip: the train fare is $7.15 return, and the bus fare between Waterbury and Stowe (one way is about 6 miles) is about $1 each way. There is accommodation at a dorm in Stowe, the charge being $1.00 a night for a room, but since only bed and mattress are supplied, bring your own blanket roll or sleeping bag. As regards meals, breakfast and supper can be had at the dorm in Stowe, with the noon meal on the ski hills.

The ski-lift charge is 10 rides for $6.00 — (the average skier takes seven runs a day).

So here is a chance for all those who prefer skiing on mountain slopes that on hills. There is limited accommodation for both McGill girls and boys for the Feb. 27, 28 period so phone as soon as possible for reservation to Claude Hannan, DE. 0584.

Chemistry Course

A new chemistry course, designed to acquaint non-science majors with the basic principles of the subject without getting too involved in mathematical and scientific study, will be introduced at Adelphi College at the beginning of the next semester in February. The course will emphasize the history of chemistry and tie this in with the development of the social sciences to show how the two subjects are related.

Ski House over Friday for the week-end.

ARCHERY

There will be a beginners tournament on Tuesday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Rifle Range. Those eligible to enter are the girls who learned archery since September. Each girl shoot 24 arrows at a distance of 16 yards. Only one practice-round will be allowed.

Those who will not be able to attend Tuesday afternoon can shoot their rounds on Thursday, from 3 to 5 p.m. All those interested, please sign your name to the R.V.C. notice board.

Moyse Boys Champs; Edge Stallions, 4-3

Before a crowd of four hundred spectators, Moyse Boys made a clean sweep of the Dawson floor hockey finals. They fought and battered their way into the Dawson championship.

Rathwell started the scoring in the first half minute of play, and followed five minutes later with the second goal. Not to be outdone Read beat Young for the Stallions first marker. The Moyse Boys increased their lead to 3-1 when Bery scored on a long shot, and in an exciting finish to the first period, Field sand Langstaff of the Stallions scored two quick goals to tie the score.

The second period was scoreless as was the third, but the style of play indicated the determination of the boys to win. The only penalty of the game was given to Andy Lesage for hooking, although the game was clean, though rough.

The first goal of the overtime period was scored by Brayne of the Moyse Boys. One half minute later, Velich of the Stallions brought the crowd to its feet by scoring the equalizing marker. After four more minutes of rough and tumble bruising play, McNeil scored the winning tally.

Starting for the Stallions was Mel Foster, whose consistent heads up play earned him the respect and admiration of all, whether they were playing or watching. For the victors, Herbie Young put in a sterling performance in the nets, and tammie George Rathwell proved to be a valuable asset to his, both from a playing and inspirational standpoint.

This deserved victory earned the champs a crack at their arch-rivals, the McGill floor hockey champs, the Combines. This will be a home and home total point series. All Dawson wishes the Moyse Boys well.

McGill Inter Hoopsters Trip Bishops, 42-32

The McGill Intermediate Inter-collegiate basketball squad pinned a 42-32 defeat on the Bishops' quintet last Friday, February 13, at the Currie Gym.

The teams played a slow, cautious brand of ball in the early minutes, and waited for any breaks in which to find an opening to grab the lead. Led by Percy Hobson and Leo Dunn, the Redmen drove into a 6-1 lead, and after twenty minutes of aggressive end-to-end rushes and fast forays, the Redmen were in front, 23-11.

But Bishops came to life in the second half as the tempo increased, and although they narrowed the gap to five points, they never came any closer as Hugh Purdy's boys maintained a comfortable margin with Novak and Davis playing stellar ball. The final buzzer saw the locals on top, 42-32.

Johnston was the individual top point-getter of the tilt with 14 points for Bishops, while Blevins cashed in with nine for the Lennoxville crew. Novak for the Redmen was good for 11 points, while Davis and Dunn figured in eight points each with Hobson marking up six more. This victory for McGill, atoned for the defeat they suffered from Bishops last January, when the latter won on their home floor, 40-35.

A perfectly-packed parachute will open within 2 1/2 seconds after the rip-cord has been pulled.

Reg Sinclair Heads Senior Red Puckmen

The McGill Redmen came back from the 8-0 shellacking handed them by Varsity last week to knock off the Carbins from the U. of M. by an 8-2 score on Saturday night. Although the win did little towards furthering their place in the standings it did serve to fatten the scoring records of some of the boys and the penalty record of Big Mike Fischer in particular.

In the scoring department Tommy Hale with five points and Reg Sinclair with four were the big guns in the McGill attack. Tommy's five point outburst, three goals and two assists, served to move him up from seventh place to fifth place in the list where he is tied with Goose Gosselin. Reggie Sinclair's two goals and two assists put him in the top slot one point ahead of Jack Miller who failed to break in on the scoring column. Reg now leads the goal getters of the team as well with a total of eight markers. Right behind him in this department is Captain Cy Beigler with seven. Cy added one to his total on Saturday and is currently in third place one point behind Jack Miller.

Holding down the fourth spot is Ward Pitfield. Ward garnered a goal and two assists in Saturday's embroglio to bring his record to five goals and five assists. Gordie Gosselin continued his playmaking ways as he set up two of the McGill scores to bring his assist total to nine. Although "Goose" has yet to score a goal he is doing quite well for himself in the assist department, in fact the closest one to him is Jack Miller with six. The only other notable feat of the evening was "Philly Phil" Henry's first goal of the year which he scored in the first period on passes from Gosselin and Atkinson.

In the sinners department Big Mike Fischer is way out in front with fifty-six minutes in the cooler. Twenty minutes of this time is due to the match misconduct with which he was tagged on Saturday. The next in line to the title of team badman is Ward Pitfield who has spent twenty-six minutes in the sin bin.

McGill Five Lose to Gaels In Badminton

The Queens' Badminton crew whipped McGill at the Currie Gymnasium on Saturday afternoon, in-dropping only one match out of the five singles played and gaining wins in the four doubles tilts. Bob Sparling, Maritime singles finalist last year, and Leigh Ronalds, a Montreal boy, were especially impressive in their first two matches for the Presbyterians. Stew Geddes salvaged the only McGill win, defeating Kingstonian Bill Cooper, 17-14, 15-4.

The McGill team, intercollegiate champions for the past two years, were without the services of Gordie Simpson provincial champion, and Claude Tetrault, as both men were away competing in the Provincial Tourney at Three Rivers, which Simpson incidentally won. Queen's will now face the winner of a three-way meet held at Hamilton on Saturday between Western, Ontario Agricultural College and MacMaster University.

Results: (Singles)
Sparling (Queens) beat McKeown (M), 15-7, 15-6.
Ronalds (Q) beat Findley (M), 15-3, 15-8.

McGill Judo Squad Holds Meet Tonight

McGill judoists are requested to turn out for practice this Wednesday, February 18, at 5 p.m., this additional workout being necessary in view of the match being held with the Y.M.C.A. during the coming Athletics Night this Friday.

Holding down positions for McGill are Tom Patton and Dave Hooper, both experienced veterans in this sport. Manager Tom Gatliffe, Ed Walter, who also does a capable job at wrestling in the 175-pound class and a newcomer, Fred Giroux, who is showing much promise.

Coach Roger Hutchins is unable to attend the workout as he is in hospital, seriously injured as a result of an automobile accident received last Tuesday.

The match with Central Y.M.C.A. is to be held on the large squash court starting at 9:30 p.m. The members of the Y.M.C.A. squad, who will provide stiff opposition for the local boys, are Bill Hulme, John Norton, Vincent Balagua, Edward Flanagan and Bernie Murdoch.

Also in the program is a judo exhibition by three experts at the game, all who possess the much coveted degree of the black belt: Mr. Okimura (coach of Y.M.C.A.), Mr. Harold Tokal, and Mr. John Yamamoto.

Western Cagers Hold Large League Lead

Western continued to dominate the Intercollegiate Cage League while its individual pointgetter ace Dick Farley tops them all. George Davidson after two week-end games for McGill garnered 19 points to place 2nd in the standings on an average basis although two Londoners have actually garnered more points.

Red Squash Crew Downed By Wesleyan, Yale, West Point

The McGill squash squad ended its regular playing season over the week-end by bowing to Wesleyan, Yale and West Point, with the boys across the border proving to be too strong and experienced. Seven local men made the "suicide" trip and only Jim Digby, a newcomer to the McGill squad managed to win a match, as the Redmen succumbed to Wesleyan Institute 6-1, to West Point 7-0, and to Yale 7-0.

Pete Landry dropped his first intercollegiate matches of the year, winning but one game as he was decisively whipped by Wesleyan's Sallan 3-0, and fell prey to Yale's Badger 3-1 and to Oliver of West Point, 3-0.

Wesleyan's win was an upset as the Redmen were favored to edge their rivals out by a slight margin. Jack Bates, Hal Dale, Larry Hampson and Ilay Ferrier lost close matches which might easily have become wins for their Alma Mater. Jim Digby, in blanking his opponents, 3-0, turned in sparkling performance.

AMERICANS STRONG
The Skillman - coached squad from Yale showed far too much power and experience for the Red lads as they won every match easily, with only Landry and Hampson scratching out a game each from the E.H. seven.

At West Point it was the same old story of superior power and coaching as only Bates, Ferrier and Digby were able to cop games.

Despite the oisided setbacks the Red team enjoyed the trip, especially their sat at Yale where Coach Stillman and his charges went out of their way to make the visit pleasant.

Pete Landry stopped off in New York on his way back to compete the U.S. Nationals on February 21. Future squads events include the above Nationals, the McGill tourney, Feb. 23, and the International Intercollegiate Match Play on March 5, 6, 7, with the Quebec Junior Intermediate tourneys in the near future.

McGILL WINS DEBATE AT COLUMBIA

'No Decision' at Princeton; Team Reaches Semi-finals In U.S. Tourney at Boston

A McGill debating team consisting of Roland La Prairie and John Monk defeated by a unanimous vote a Columbia University team yesterday afternoon in New York. Later in the day, in a debate at Princeton University a "no decision" verdict was given. The topic was "Resolved that a Federal World Government Should be Established".

Last Friday and Saturday they were the only Canadian University represented at the American Debating Tourney in Boston. They made the semi-finals by beating both Army and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. However, in the semi-finals, they were defeated by Rutgers. Yale University eventually won the Tournament. The topic here was also "Resolved that a Federal World Government be Established".

Today the team will journey to West-Point where an exhibition match has been arranged. The topic there is "Resolved that marriage and a military career are compatible." Last year a team composed of Roland La Prairie and Jon Ballon defeated a West-Point debating team. This year the McGill team will uphold the negative of the arranged resolution.

Mr. La Prairie is President of the Debating Society and has won the McGill Gold Key for debating. He is a second year Arts Student and has had wide experience in debating against many Canadian and American Universities.

John Monk, the other member of the McGill debating team on tour, is a fourth year Arts Student in Honours Philosophy. He has debated in the I.U.D.L. against several American Colleges as well as debating in the Montreal Debating League.

The McGill debating team is expected home after their encounter with West-Point today.

Dawson Parents Send Entrants

By ELIZABETH-ANNE SUMNER

Dawson College parents seem to be prouder of their offsprings than those at Peterson Residence, if their response in the "McGill Beautiful Baby Contest" is any criterion. To date several entries have been received from Dawson College, having been sent by dog team, private helicopter, the local mails, and Dawson copy boy. As yet, not one single entry has been received from Peterson Residence.

What's the matter Peterson? All you have to do is obtain a snapshot or photograph of your child—provided that the child is under two years of age, put into an envelope along with the child's name and age AT PRESENT and your name, address, and faculty, and mail, bring down, or send by carrier pigeon to the BABY CONTEST in the Daily Office.

The contest will remain open until Friday afternoon but, as yet, the list of judges has not been announced.

Thanks!!

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—

I would like to use the medium of your column to express my deep appreciation to all connected with The Red and White Revue.

Now that The Revue is over, I would like to thank each and every student concerned for their excellent work in contributing to its success. A great deal of time and effort was put into the production by people who did not appear on the stage at all, and to them goes a special vote of thanks for the smoothness with which the show was handled.

It is next to impossible to pick one part of the show for special mention, but I'm sure that the entire cast will agree with me that Lois Cuff, who literally left her bed of pain to go on with the show, proves to the utmost that wonderful adage: "There's no people like show people."

I cannot let this opportunity pass without thanking both Students Executive Council for their unfailing help and advice at all times, and those members of the Faculty connected with The Revue, who were always ready to lend a hand.

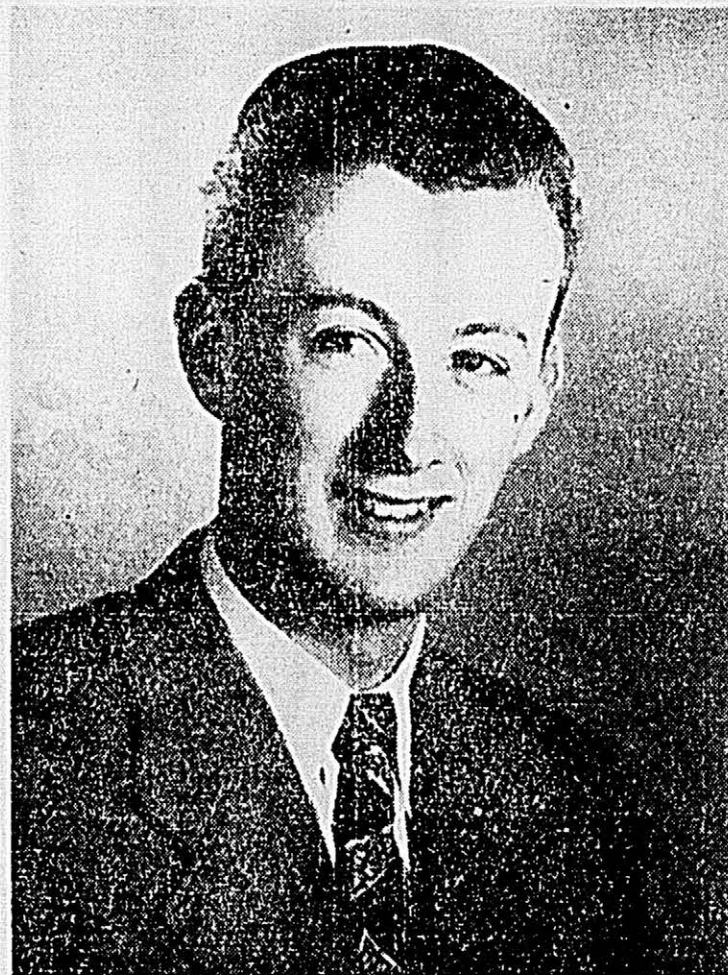

In my humble opinion The Revue shows campus spirit in its best form—a fact made possible by the people connected with this all student endeavor.

Once again may I thank each and every one for a job well done.

GERALD O'BRIEN, Producer.

Chow, with Emphasis

Mr. Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—

Every year something new happens, during the run of The Red and White Revue, to prove that the show is packed with people who are imbued with real college spirit.

This year Miss Helen Harris was instrumental in organizing a dinner party for the cast and crew. At least 40 members of the company accepted the invitation of the Gamma Phi Beta Fraternity, and a wonderful time was had by all between Saturday's matinee and evening performance.

National Poster Contest to Help Starving Children of the World

A National Poster Contest is being held to aid starving children in all corners of the world. Anyone from kindergarten to university age is eligible for entry.

When you enter this poster contest, you become a member of the Crusade For Children. This campaign to save the starving young people all over the world is being sponsored by American Overseas Aid—United Nations Appeal for Children. American relief agencies who have banded together for this drive are working with the United Nations to raise America's share in this world-wide drive. America's share is $60,000,000. This contribution will mean life or death for millions of children in every corner of the globe.

To enter this poster contest is to express in an individual way your belief that to save a child is to save the future. To depict the plight of 230,000,000 starving children makes you their spokesman in a world where they are too often forgotten. As their spokesman, you must express their desire to grow up, to live securely.

to become the world citizens of the future.

Contest Rules

BIG TOURIST SEASON AHEAD!

THE THOMPSONS are busy as bees, getting their place in shape for the tourist season. This year, with three more cabins, electricity and a modernized kitchen, they hope to do even better than before.

They were able to make these additions because last fall Mr. Thompson drove to town to see his bank manager. He knew about the nice little business the Thompsons had built up; a bank loan was quickly arranged.

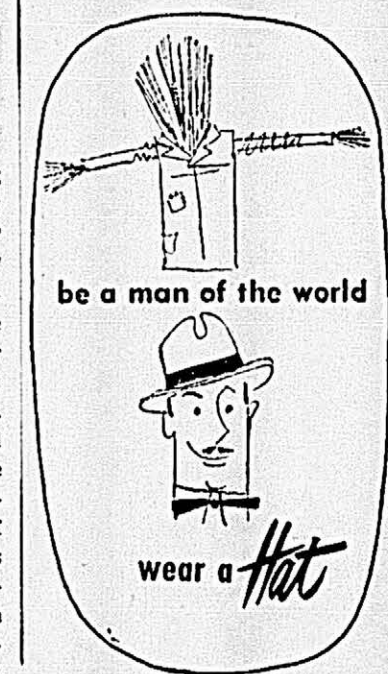

Now the Thompsons can handle more tourists and increase their income. At the same time Canada will benefit from the extra tourist dollars they take in.
